

The Voorman Problem – Director’s Biography – Mark Gill

Mark graduated from the University of Central Lancashire in 2007 with a 1st Class Honours Degree in Moving Image, winning a Royal Television Society award in the process. As a result he was awarded one of ten places to study for a Masters Degree in Directing at the International Film School of Paris. However, Mark felt his future lay in further practical directing and writing experience.

In a previous life he was a professional musician signed to the Universal Music Group. Mark is influenced by everything, but more often than not: Hemingway, Blade Runner, Edward Hopper and The Smiths. He has recently completed his first feature film script which is currently in development and is represented by Simon Blakey at The Agency (London) Ltd.
